

Dear TAPPS Administration:

More than 10 years ago, I was a high school student at Second Baptist School in Houston and won and placed in many different TAPPS academic (most notably, I was a 3-time state spelling champ and one-time silver medalist) and fine arts (2-time state bronze medalist in vocal solo) competitions. I'm now a TV news reporter for NBC 5 in Dallas-Fort Worth.

I'm also the founder/president of The Application Masters, an Internet-based college application/essay and document editing service. And it is in this capacity that I'm writing to you. Would you be able to help me by spreading the word to your member schools about our services?

We can provide students with valuable help to polish every aspect of their college application to give them the best chance of getting into the college of their choice. I know what it takes. The Princeton Review published my college application essay in its book College Essays that Made a Difference. I graduated from Rice University.

We won't write students' essays for them, but we'll correct mistakes word processing software won't catch and bring out a student's "voice" on paper. Visit our website and see our editors' impressive credentials: www.TheApplicationMasters.com.

We're offering 20% off all services, if you submit your materials by October 31!

Here's our flier for you to forward or post on a bulletin board/website:

Let me know if you'd like me to mail you hard copies of anything. I'd be happy to do it!

We also edit a variety of other documents, including marketing materials, resumes, cover letters, books, training guides, and more.

Best regards,

Julie Tam
