

The East Texas Children's Choral Festival is a non-competitive choir festival for young treble ensembles. For eighteen years, the Huntsville Children's Choir has hosted this festival. The goal has always been to provide young singers a positive performance venue where they can present their music and be critiqued in a positive, supportive manner. The choir festival is held in conjunction with The Folk Festival in Huntsville, Texas on the grounds of the Sam Houston Memorial Museum. This allows choirs an opportunity to perform and then enjoy the fun of the folk festival. This year the choral festival will be held on May 3, 2008.
